

A LETTER FROM REV. MR. BROWN.

One Hundred Thousand Bushels of Seed Wheat Asked for the Drought-Sufferers.

PA. AMERICAN HOME MISSION, Rooms 280 Broadway, New York City. To the Editor of the Gazette: I am told the papers in Texas are charging me with exaggeration when presenting the claims of the poor farmers of Northwest Texas. Well, I shall be glad to learn authoritatively that I am. It will afford me great pleasure to know that there is no suffering or destitution to speak of in that region. I was under the impression from what I saw and heard that there was suffering and distress of a very severe character. When asked at a ministers' meeting in Chicago, how many required aid, I said that perhaps a hundred thousand families throughout the North and Northwest would require aid, more or less, before next summer. I did not say they were all in present distress. Perhaps we had better not be too rash in either denying or affirming this number. We will see what we will see. If you report what I say here and elsewhere, as published in the papers, you will probably misrepresent me. It is rarely that I am quoted just right. The main facts, however, are generally correct. I am sorry that I was forced to defend myself and the cause I represented as soon as I struck Chicago. There I found cattle-men throwing cold water on the efforts made to relieve the distressed tillers of the soil. They did not deny that the wheat was suffering among them, but they claimed, if properly reported, and I believe they were, that they ought to be left alone to starve—that they were too lazy and trifling to live, and that the sooner they died the better for all concerned.

Now, this talk did mischief, and compelled me to adopt the line of argument I generally followed when pleading for the needy, drought-stricken farmers. I was ever glad to announce that all cattle-men were not alike, and that the committee of Albany, which paid my expenses, was composed almost altogether of cattle-men. But I did not spare the inhuman crew, if they are rich, who were apparently so lost to the nobler instincts of the soul, as to advocate the starvation of thousands of poor people who toiled hard last fall and this spring to no purpose. Then, again, I was compelled to explain about the conflicting reports from Texas as to the severity of the drought. Papers were sent up and placed in the hands of business men, giving the life to all reports about the drought and the suffering of the people. Is it not a pity that men, for the sake of inducing others to go to the state, will publish what they know, or ought to know, at least, is not true? Better a thousand times to let it be known abroad when families or distress of any sort visits a people than to try to hide it. It was amusing to see how some papers—county papers—tried to make believe that they were lovely in their county last summer, while at their door people were not half fed. When there was hunger and misery reported, it was never in their county, but in some other. The managers, or editors, of those papers, too, thought, or pretended to think, that they were working for the interest of their country.

It is no disgrace to any place to appeal for outside aid in the time of need, and for American people are the most generous people in the world in presence of real trouble. It is not creditable, therefore, to the state of Texas that the want and hunger of many of her toiling citizens was not made known sooner. Every day people say to me, "What a drought of fifteen months, and the country did not know it?" I found only very few, all the way from Chicago to this city, that knew anything of our trouble. They were amazed that they were not asked to give long ere now. Look how Charleston asks, and how she receives! Nearly $100,000 have gone to her from this city alone. Look at Kansas, for three consecutive years aided by the generous East to replant her barren fields; just come up and see Kansas to-day. The North and Northeast are perfectly able, and perfectly willing, too, to replant every barren field in the drought district of Texas. Everywhere I go there is the kindest feeling and sympathy expressed for those who tried, but reaped no crop this season, and if I can out get the matter proper before them I know that they will give all that is asked. The earthquake, however, and the selfish interests at work opposing me, make my mission anything but pleasant, though undertaken with the best of motives. It is hard work to ask money for a cause that is either little known or known in such a way that you are compelled to explain a great many whys and wherefores. However, I am here in the interests of the impoverished farmers of Northwest Texas, and I shall do my best for them. Up till now money collected was sent to the relief committee of Albany, Schofield county, for the purpose of purchasing seed wheat for that county, and a few of those adjoining. I have taken the advice of my friends here, and, therefore, labor to benefit all who are needy, as far as possible, throughout the whole drought region. All money sent in is received by the secretaries of our Home Mission board, and will be held by them for future disposal. Other parties, too, who are in public life, will open subscription lists; and when all is done that can be done, then there will be a just distribution among the various counties who ask for relief. In the meantime let the various committees arrange for united action. I am calling for 100,000 bushels of wheat. Is that too much, or too little? Let all who need help to sow their fields this fall and next spring make application to their respective relief committees, and let said committees correspond with me at the above address.

JOHN BROWN.

At its meeting on Wednesday, September 29, the commissioners' court determined to borrow the sum of $300 from the court-house fund to relieve the needs of the farmers of the county. Grain, rye, wheat, etc., will be bought and sold to the citizens of the county on promissory notes from the purchasers, running one year, without interest. Judge Jernigan was appointed to go to Fort Worth or Dallas, or whatever other necessary place and make the purchases. It is expected that free transportation will be furnished by the railroads. One farmer who has come to our notice, having failed in the rest of his crop, was depending almost entirely on his watermelon patch, when an unprecedented rise in the Clear Fork of the Brazos carried away all his melons and left him completely in the lurch.

While no crops were made throughout the county, yet since the rains set in a great many watermelons have been raised and they are still plentiful. Those who are able to get the seed have either planted or are getting ready to plant rye, wheat and the like. Some few farmers will make sugar cane enough for winter feed.

Rumors come here that the people of Stonewall county intend to organize soon. The writer has heard the rumor repeatedly so that it is likely to be true.

Advice to Mothers.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used for children teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic and is the best remedy for diarrhea, 25 cents a bottle.

Morris' Cascarine is a positive cure for dyspepsia. Pleasant to take, mild in action and unfailing in cure.

SWUNG TO A TREE.

The Supposed Murderer of the Logan Family Hanged, but not Killed.

STEELVILLE, Mo., Oct. 1.—Ever since B. F. Wallace was brought here under arrest for the murder of the Logan family there have been threats of lynching, and rumors of plans on foot for carrying the threats into effect. At 11 o'clock last night it seemed as if Wallace's case would never come before a legal court, and that lynch law would dispose of him. At the above hour an organized body of masked men marched to the jail, proceeded to Wallace's cell and dragged him forth more dead than alive. Wallace was led under a tree in the court-house yard and a rope was placed around his neck. He was told that he had but five minutes to live, and that if he wanted to say anything he had better hurry up. Wallace then made a statement, stoutly protesting his innocence, claiming that Lew Vaughn, colored, was the murderer of the Logan family, and had given him, (Wallace), $20 to keep the secret. At this the mob hooted and yelled, and at the word the rope was thrown over a limb. Wallace was suspended in mid-air. He was held there a few moments and then let down again, the mob still hoping that he would confess. It was several minutes before the half-dead man could regain strength to talk. When he did, his denial of the crime was a protestation of innocence. The crowd had by this time largely increased, and many calls for mercy were heard. Col. A. J. Seay, a man greatly respected in the town, was called upon to address the mob. He responded, and advised the mob to desist and to allow the law to take its course. The sheriff and several others followed in the same vein. The mob lost their vim, and their prisoner was delivered to the sheriff, who replaced him in his cell. The crowd then dispersed.

Silver Leaf Baking Powder

Never fail when the directions are followed, hence there is never a word of complaint heard against it. The inexperienced cook is able to make as good bread with it as the professional baker, simply because its ingredients are so compounded as to make failure impossible when the directions are followed. A trial is all that is necessary to make it indispensable to all well-regulated households.

Revival at Athens.

ATHENS, Tex., Sept. 29.—Burnett and Muley, the celebrated Texas Methodist revivalists, closed a five-days' meeting here to-day. The largest audience ever assembled in this town greeted them three times a day. Great interest was manifested, and all regret their departure. The visible results of the meeting are seventy-four conversions and reclamations. The evangelists go from here to Lancaster, Tex., to hold their next meeting. They leave here with the good will of all.
